FRE NORTH CAROLINA MARSHAL'S

Bearing in Deputy Franks' Case Before Commissioner Flant.

The preliminary hearing in the case of Joshua A. Franks, late deputy United States marshal for the Western district of North Carolina, charged with defrauding the Government by presenting false vonchers, was remained yesterday afternoon before United States Commissioner J. T. K. Plant.

C. T. Rodgers, United States marshal for the Western district of North Carolina, was reasiled for cross-examination. A lengthy argument was indulged in by counsel as to the diminishility of a certain warrant, issued by Commissioners, Rodgers, which purported to have been adjudicated in the handwriting of the defendant, which adjudication is claimed to be a longery of the name of Commissioner Bandwriting of Pranks.

Mr. Thaddeus Sturgis, of the First Auditors Office, Treasury Department, testified that le had a duplicate account in his office, sworn to by J. A. Franks, February 19, 1877, before United States Commissioner C. T. Rodgers, and the first Mandiors of the Western distriction in claimed the indosements were not in the handwriting of Franks.

Mr. Thaddeus Sturgis, of the First Auditors Office, Treasury Department, testified that le had a duplicate account in his office, sworn to by J. A. Franks, February 19, 1877, before United States Commissioner C. T. Rodgers, and the Convention of the States Commissioner C. T. Mr. Cropinberger has been charged with making out fraudulent accounts were in the hand viriting of Eastman and Croninberger. Pronks handwriting was not on the account. Except on the jural. He was not with Franks and Eastman when they were making up the ecount, and the only way he could identify it was by the handwriting. He could not good to be account as the one Eastman han forwinking. He could not good the marshal's office. Witness had been indicted twenty times or more for arresting illieri distillers, and he supposed they would continue to follow him up. There were about fifty of them, and he thought they would all have had been sworn to. It was from the 8th to the 10th of May that he was arrested on the sourt-house, but could not say whether they had been sworn to. It was from the 8th to the 10th of May that he was arrested on the same charge preferred against Franks. Some time in November he sent blank affiliavits to Franks from Greensbero' without accounts being attached. They were to be attached to ecounts already in the marshal's office. Col. Robert M. Douglas, United States marshal for the Western district of North Carolina, was the last witness sworn for the prevention, and testified that Franks had accounts in his office for arrests, farmishing guards, &c., February 19, 1877. He did not exactly remember the amount of the account, but it was in the mightorhood of 5100. It was field the neighborhood of 5100. If affidavits had been seet out with the blanks for the amounts not filled in it was entirely without his knowledge of consent. Franks' reputation for integrity was good; he had been informed that Franks had been drinking a good deal of late.

This closed the evidence for the Government, and the case was adjourned until to-day at 12 colock m., when the defense will proceed with their testimony, and Rodgers, Eastman and Clark, who testified for the Government, will be called by the defendant's counsel.

Laying of the Corner-Stone.

Despite the shower yesterday aftermoon there was a large assemblage of persons at the corner of Fourteenth and L. streets northwest to witness the exercises connected with the laying of the corner-stone of All Souis (Unitarian) church. The hour fixed for the writes was 6:30 o'clock, but on account of the min there was a delay, and it was after 7 p. m. when the exercises began.

The trustees of the church had invited the trustees of the church had invited the trand Lodge of Masonic ceremonics, and that body willingly accepted the invitation. The Knights Templar of this jurisdiction intended to perform escort duty to the Grand Lodge on this occasion, but the suppositious weather deterred many fraters from vonturing forth in their regalias, and although many Templars met at the Asylum, there was only a representation of Columbia, No. 2, and De Molay, No. 4, that formed the line doing escort duty.

On the site of the ediffice the excavation had been made and foundation walls reared, and the curner-stone of the superstructure was ready to be set in place as soon as the accepted time should arrive. Over the space between the foundation walls a temponry wood flooring had been laid; at the east side was a raised platform, and between this and the west front had been placed a large number of chairs, which during the ceremonics were occupied by prominent citizens and members of the new church, while others loss fortunate filled up the standing room to the rear.

The Masonic and Templar organizations arrived shortly after 7 o'clock, and proceeded to the cast side of the flooring and near the inortheast corner, where the stone was waiting to be put in position. On the platform was the Masonic choir, led by Mr. H. H. Realley.
